WE NEED ONE ANOTHER

The natural environment is closely related to the social, political and economic environment. It is urgent for all of us to lay the foundations of an integral ecology – this is a question of health – an integral ecology capable of respecting all these human dimensions in resolving the grave social and environmental issues of our time. Otherwise, the glaciers of the mountains will continue to recede, and our sense of gratitude and responsibility with regards to these gifts, our concern for the world we want to leave for future generations, for its meaning and values, will melt away just like those glaciers (cf. Laudato Si', 159-160). And we need to be aware of this...because everything is related, we need one another.
