EVERYTHING IS INTERRELATED

Because we dwell in a common home, we cannot help but ask ourselves about the state of its health, as I sought to do in Laudato Si'. Water and air pollution, the indiscriminate exploitation of forests, and the destruction of the natural environment are often the result of man's indifference to man, since everything is interrelated. Then too, there is the way we treat animals, which has an effect on the way we treat other people, not to mention what people freely do elsewhere that they would never dare to do at home. In these and other situations, indifference leads to self-absorption and a lack of commitment. It thus contributes to the absence of peace with God, with our neighbour and with the environment.
